

ENOUGH TO MAKE THE EAGLE SCREAM

"Statistical Abstract" Shows
How Much Ahead of World
Uncle Sam Is.

The eagle screams from nearly every page of a great document just issued by the Bureau of Statistics, the "Statistical Abstract." Any man who wants to boast of his country need only secure a volume and load up with material for crushing any doubter.

For 700 pages the book is solid figures, but they are figures that again and again are so astonishing that the reader will look again to be sure. These are the official records of what the country is doing, what resources it has, what business it is doing, and what it is worth.

Great Array of Figures.

Today the population is more than 85,000,000. Last fall 14,857,133 went to the polls and voted for President. In 1907 6,465 millions of letters and postal cards were sent through the mails, which is two-thirds as much as the combined postal business of Great Britain, Germany, France, and Austria-Hungary, and twice as big as any one of them. One hundred million telegrams were sent.

Uncle Sam has some resources left. He has 54,000,000 acres of land unappropriated, though little of this can be called available as "desirable corner lots," for almost half of it is in Alaska and much of it in the Rockies. The report credits Uncle Sam with 5,567,000 horsepower from streams, and with 62,377 water wheels.

The estimated coal supply of the country is 3,135,708,000 tons, and in 1907 almost half a billion tons were mined. The estimated iron ore supply of the country is nearly five billions of tons, and in 1907 62,000,000 tons were mined.

School Expenditures.

He spent $197,000,000 for school teachers in 1907, out he could afford it, because he was worth over $107,000,000,000, which is almost seven times as much as he was worth in 1890. The farmers were quite busy, for in 1907 they produced seven and a half billions of dollars' worth of products.

In 1907 the country imported one and a half billions of dollars' worth of products, but half of that was raw material for manufacturing. It had exports of about $1,800,000,000, of which 40 per cent was manufactured goods.

VETERANS TO MARK SPANISH SURRENDER

Santiago Day Will Be Celebrated at Marshall Hall
July 17.

Santiago Day, the eleventh anniversary of the surrender of the Spanish in Cuba, will be celebrated at Marshall Hall July 17 by the United Spanish War Veterans of this city.

The exercises will include patriotic addresses, field sports and a rifle shoot. Teams of three marksmen, one from each of the District camps, will take part in the match. The veterans will be assisted by the League of Spanish War Veterans. Final decision as to the place and date was reached last evening at a meeting in Center Market Armory.

Next Thursday evening the tenth anniversary of the organization of Miles Camp will be observed.

CASSINI RESIGNS HIS POST IN SPAIN

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—Count Cassini, ambassador to Spain, has resigned his post, and there are renewed rumors here that M. Iswolsky, the foreign minister, is to succeed to that post. Count Cassini, who came here on private business, unexpectedly placed his resignation into the hands of the ministry, thus leaving the way open for Iswolsky, whose withdrawal from the cabinet is considered inevitable.

Represented Russia Here.

Count Cassini was Russian ambassador to the United States from 1898 to 1904, celebrating while here the fifth anniversary of his connection with Russia's diplomatic service. He was appointed to Spain in 1905.

SEASON OPENED IN PLAYGROUNDS

Rosedale Entertainment Club Has Charge of Exercises at Seventeenth and Gale Streets.

The playground season in the District is now open, and the little tots, as well as those who are larger, can find amusement and recreation in all sections of the city. To the managers of the Rosedale playgrounds, at the corner of Seventeenth and Gale streets north-east, belongs the honor of inaugurating the season.

The Rosedale Entertainment Club of Noel House had charge of the exercises, which were held yesterday afternoon. There were several attractive numbers on the program presented, the "Pageant of Spring," which required the services of sixty-four little girls, being the most pretentious.

The "Queen of May" was Miss Nellie Noland, and she had a large entourage. A playlet, "Beauty and the Beast," was presented by a full company, with Miss Mary Richards as Beauty, and Master Edwards as the Beast.

LIBRARY GREAT AID IN CHOOSING RESORT

Practical aid in planning for vacations is being offered at the Public Library. Advertising pamphlets, rate lists, and similar material covering almost every well-known summer resort in the United States and Canada, and many in Europe, have been made available in the reading room, and copies of many are being distributed.

In addition to this, on request, the library will obtain the information desired for any locality not covered by the collection.

BOSTON POLICEMAN SHOOTS PRISONER

Richard Walsh Wounded
When Officer Aims at Another Man.

CHELSEA, Mass., May 9.—Richard Walsh is thought to be dying in the Chelsea Marine Hospital, and Louis C. Sears and Francis J. Hall, both Chelsea young men, are locked up in the police station as the result of an encounter with a squad of policemen.

Walsh, who is eighteen years of age, has a bullet in his chest near his heart, where he was shot by Policeman Herbert J. Bradley at the time of his capture.

The shooting took place about midnight. Walsh, Sears, and Hall, the police say, stole a horse and barrel wagon from the barn of Patrick McKevitt in Vernon street. An alarm had been sent to Chelsea police headquarters. Sergt. Herbert H. Hayes and his squad of policemen were lying in wait for the men and the team.

Policeman Bradley, who was nearest, drew his revolver and fired. At the same moment Walsh jumped from his seat to the ground, jumping directly in the line of the bullet, which pierced his body close to the heart.
